

GHB Steamer and drifter function.

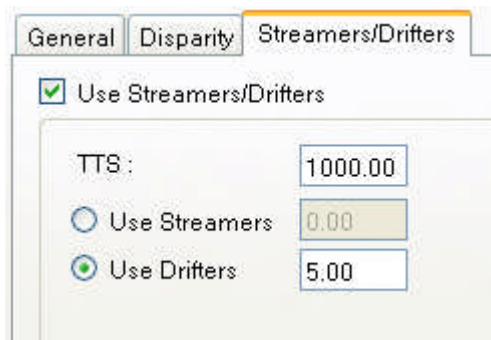

This is an Auto function only and combines with all the other Auto features

The idea of betting on steamers or drifters is not new but did you know that Betfairs own research shows that it could be more profitable to bet on steamers and back drifters?

Read this article from Psycho it explains a lot more.

<http://www.horseracingsystemsuk.com/04-12-2007.htm>

We have made this feature as simple as we can and there are only 3 settings.

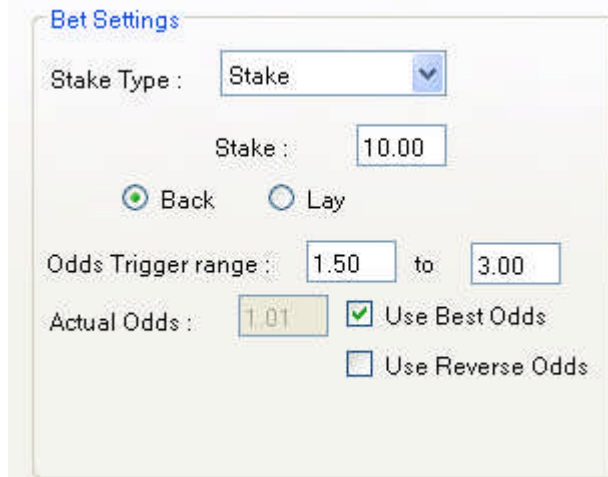

1. TTS - The seconds before the off when the bot first checks the prices.
2. Use Steamers - GHB looks for a price coming in based on a % change in price.
3. Use Drifters - GHB looks for a price getting going out based on a % change in price.

GHB uses these settings combined with your normal Auto settings to decide if to make a bet.

Scenario 1

You want to back the favourite but only if it is a steamer and the price before the off is between 1.50 and 3.00 and it's price has improved by 30% 60 seconds before the off from your first check an hour before the off.

First of all set up your normal settings.

Bet Settings

Stake Type : Stake

Stake : 10.00

Back Lay

Odds Trigger range : 1.50 to 3.00

Actual Odds : 1.01 Use Best Odds Use Reverse Odds

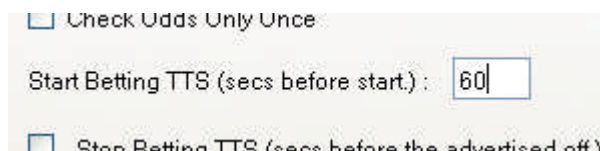

We are only concerned with the favourite.

Back/Lay all runners within price range

Or use (0) any, 1 to 6 by price

And we want to check the final price under "session" to 60 seconds before the off.

Check Odds Only Once

Start Betting TTS (secs before start) : 60

Stop Betting TTS (secs before the advertised off)

All we have to do now is set up our "Steamers and Drifters" options.

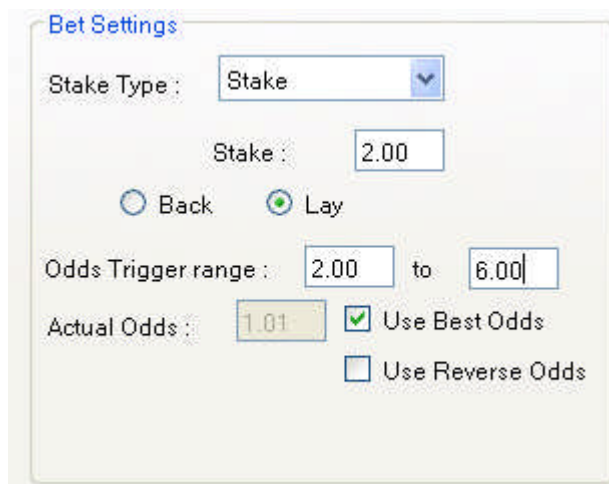

At 3600 seconds before the advertised off GHB will check the price of our selection, in this case the favourite and log this price.

60 seconds before the race it will check the price again and if it has changed for the better by 30% or more then GHB will now bet as long as all your other Auto settings are met.

Scenario 2

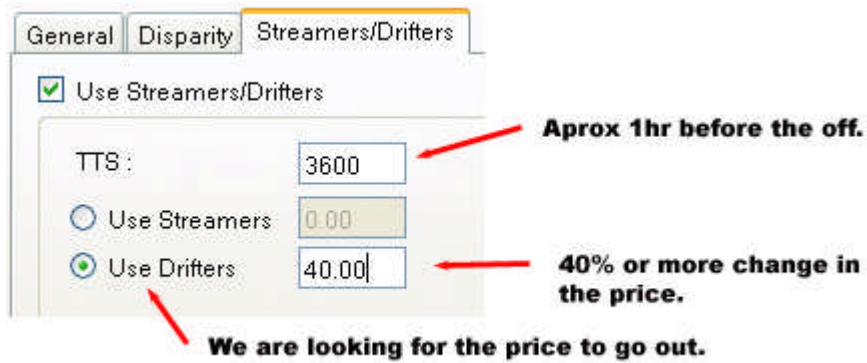

We want to lay only one selection in a race if it drifts over 40% from it's original price 1 hour before the race. We will only lay it if the price is between 2.00 and 6.00.

Odds and stakes are set.

We have selected "0" because we want to check all runners in the race to see if any of them drift by 40% or more.

At 3600 seconds before the advertised off GHB will check the price of all selections in the race and log this price.

60 seconds before the race it will check the price of all runners again and if one has changed price for the worse by 40% or more then GHB will now bet as long as all your other Auto settings are met.